The case of William H. Lacey against Lacey on Saturday night. The arguments were made by the attorneys on Saturday afternoon and night, and about 10 o'clock the case was given to the jury. After being out some little time the jury, with J. T. Beckham as foreman, returned to the court room and announced their verdict as $2,500 damages for Lacey. The counsel on both sides will move for a new trial. Lacey claimed damages to the amount of $15,000. mh2-tf

Work of the City Council-

At the Railroad Reading Rooms yesterday afterneon Mr. W. D. Buckner of the Theological Seminary delivered an interesting discourse. The quarters at this mission have grown so inadequate that at every meeting large numbers have to be turned away, being unable even to get standing room. It has been suggested that this field would give an excellent opportunity to some person who would like to erect a little memorial chapel for some departed one, and if this could be done the opportunities for increasing this good work would be increased many fold. The young mer. who now have charge of this work work hard and faithfully over it.

Firemen, at the risk of their lives, rolled twenty barrels of gasoline from the buildings. Five one-story icehouses, 200 by 125 feet, caught next and were rapidly consumed, and then the four-story storage building followed.

The fire leaped from room to room and roared and crackled until the roof fell in and the flames shot fifty feet in the air.

At this point the Kansas City (Mo.) fire department was appealed to for assistance, and six hose companies and two engines responded. The water tower from the Armour Packing Company also assisted.

The bridge connecting the storage house with the beef house caught and was destroyed.
